

In this task, I learned how to create a Django project and app, set up a database model, and implement CRUD functionality. I also designed a colorful front-end using Bootstrap and custom CSS to make my notes visually appealing. I did some extra research into the app colours and I did struggle mostly with adding and researching how to add different coloured notes, however once that worked, the stickynotes app is now my own pink bubble.