

In this part of the project, I learned how to write and run unit tests in Django.

I tested my Note model and CRUD views (home, add, edit, delete) to ensure they worked correctly.

It was helpful to see how automated testing validates the application's stability and prevents future bugs.